The Challenges

High Transportation cost

High transportation costs can erode profit margins for businesses, driven by factors like fuel prices and logistical inefficiencies.

Unable to track truck

Inability to track loads or trucks can lead to uncertainty and inefficiencies, hindering timely delivery and customer satisfaction.

Transporters and shippers have limited options.

Transporters and shippers are facing fewer options to buy and sell due to market constraints. This limits their flexibility and choice in logistics solutions.

Hassle to find return trip

It's often a hassle to find return trips due to limited availability or coordination challenges. This adds inefficiency and increases costs for transporters and shippers.
